

Post commotio syndrome

Post commotio syndrome is a late sequela of commotio. It is manifested by a number of non-specific but demonstrable symptoms, which include:

- persistent headache,
- disturbances in attention, concentration and memory,
- fatigue,
- irritability, intolerance, frustration,
- tinnitus,
- anxiety,
- sleep disorders.

This condition may persist for several days to three months.^[1]

Links

Related articles

- Concussion

References

1. Neurosurgical lecture, 19. 5. 2011, Doc. MUDr. Ing. Jaroslav Plas, ÚVN Praha.