We wish you easy working and studying at WikiLectures!

Hi Moriz,

welcome to WikiLectures. I recommend you especially Portal:Anatomy, where you can find useful information about topographical anatomy.

As you can see, WikiLectures are not developed enough yet to provide complete studying materials. And that is why I would like to ask you, whether you would be interested in work on WikiLectures. If you have some your own materials (e.g. some notes made from a book or lectures at school), you can send it to our e-mail or I can help you with direct importing materials to WikiLectures (and you'll see it's really simple!). However, if you are not interested in, it would be very nice if you told your schoolmates and friends about WikiLectures.

Thank you very much and I hope you'll enjoy WikiLectures!
